

Health and Safety policy for Language in Action

Setting the scene

Language in Action (the Employer) takes health and safety issues seriously and is committed to protecting the health and safety of its staff and all those affected by its business activities and attending its premises. This policy is intended to help the Employer achieve this by clarifying who is responsible for health and safety matters and what those responsibilities are.

Language in Action genuinely cares for it's staff and want to portray this in the health and safety policy.

Language in Action used the HSE example policy statement and other guidance available on the HSE website at www.hse.gov.uk/risk. This helped them to think about the things that should be documented and built into their own health and safety policy, such as remote working, staff consultation and training etc.

Language in Action decided that Jonathan Allan and Emiliano Sallustri would be the most competent (experienced and capable) people to take responsibility for health and safety issues.

Jonathan Allan and Emiliano Sallustri presented the policy statement at the staff meeting and decided to review and update the document every year or straightaway if there are any major changes in the workplace.
